The origin of modern political thought was, in fact, introduced to the world during the time of the renaissance. In the Italian city of Florence lived the political philosopher Niccolò Machiavelli, who is the man responsible for shaping the view of modern political thought. Niccolò Machiavelli was born May 3, 1469 in the Tuscan town of Florence.

A History of Political Thought is, though, a book of two halves, and so far I have described only the second. The first half documents Browning's 'determination to get to grips' with what he calls the question of interpretation (p. 2). To this end he surveys what he sees as the main figures in interpretation debates:
